RALEIGH, N. C., TUESDAY MORNING, JUNE 24, 1879.

THE JUDICIAL BILL.

THE PRESIDENT OPENS HIS VETO SHOP AGAIN.

Le Declines to Discuss the Wisdom or Necessity of Election Laws---The Old Points Repeated.

WASHINGTON, June 23 .- The following is a summary of the President's message returning the judicial expenses bill to the House without his signature; The President begins by reciting the passage of the original legislative bill repealing title 26 of the Revised Statutes, and its return to the House without his approval. The object of the present bill, he says, is not to repeal the election laws, but to defeat their enforcement under existing laws, and the failure of Congress to make the appropriations required for the execution of the provisions of the election laws would not prevent their enforcement. The right and duty to appoint general and special deputy marshals, which they provide for, would still remain, and the Executive department of the government would also be empowered to incur the requisite liability for their compensation. But the second section of this bill contains a prohibition not found in any previous egislation. Its design is to render the election laws inoperative by omitting to appropriate money for their enforcement, and by prohibiting any officer of the government from incurring the liability under title 26 of the Revised Statutes authorizing the appointment of [deputy marshals for service on election day. The appointment of special deputy marshals is not, he says, a spontaneous act of authority on part of the government, but is made by section 2021 of the Revised Statutes, and is a popular right of citizens in any township having 20,000 inhabitants or upwards. The present bill neither revokes this popular right nor relieves a marshal of any duty imposed by law, nor the President of his duty to see that this law is faithfully executed. He declines to discuss again the wisdom or necessity of election laws or what he regards dangerous and unconstitutional principles of this bili;that the power vested in Congress to the original appropriations involves the right to compel the Executive to approve any legislation which Congress may attach to these bills under the penalty of refusing the means needed to carry on essential functions of the Government. His views on these points were, he says, presented in previous messages and he regards them conclusive as to his duty in respect to the present bill. This measure leaves the powers and duties of Supervisors of Elections untouched, but depriving the National Government of the power to protect them in the dis-charge of their duty at the polls. States may employ both civil and military power at elections, but by this bill even the civil authority to protect Congressional elections is denied to the United States. There are two lawful ways to overturn legislative enactments; one their repeal, the other is the decision of a competent tribunal against their validity. The effect of this bill is to dethe government of the means to execute laws which are not repealed and which have not been declared invalid and which it is the duty, therefore, of the Executive and of every other department of the government to obey and enforce. He closes by saying that he is willing to concur in suitable amendments for the improvement of the election laws, but cannot consent to their repeal or approve of legislation which seeks to prevent their enforce-

The Bonapartist Succession.

LONDON, June 23 .- The Times says "The embarrassment of the Bonapartists are increasingly manifest. Cassagnae was reproached with indiscretion in putting forward the claim of Prince Victor Bonaparte to the Imperial succession. In the Sunday issue of the Pays De Cassagnae admits that nothing has been officially decided, though, perhaps, a decision may be made in a few days. It is believed Rouher affected ignorance of the will in favor of Prince Victor, eldest son of Prince Jerome Napoleon because he considered the yalidity doubtful, unless Prince Jerome Napoleon consents to waive his claims. Prince Jerome is very reticent since his arrivalin Paris. apparently awaiting the action Rouher. It is not believed that Prince Jerome will agree to be a pretender himself or permit his son to become one. In the event of Prince Victor endeavoring to temporize in not distinctly accepting the position, the Bonapartists probably will fall back on Prince Charles Napoleon, President of the Corsican Council-General. Prince Charles is forty years of age, has no sons or royal connections, and much less eligible candidate than Prince Victor.

Mine Accident.

HARRISBURG, June 23 .- At Williamstown this morning as William Savage and Lewis W. Snyder, machinists, and James Harkins, boiler maker, were being lowered in the deep slope at Williamston colliery the spreader chain gave way, and the occupants of the car were precipitated to the bottom, a distance of over one hundred yards. The two machinists were instantly killed; Harkins was seriously injured.

LONDON, June 23,-The Government authorities received an anonymous letter Wednesday last, warning them that an attempt would be made in Cheshire to upset the railway train conveying Queen Victoria and Princess Beatrice from Balmoral to Windsor on Saturday The railway track was consequently guarded by hundreds of constables. The journey, however, was uneventful. The letter was probably a hoax.

New Berne Democrat. We have just been shown a beautifully executed map of a plot of 24,000 acres of land, recently purchased by C. W. McLean, and upon which he purposes establishing a colony of Hollanders. The land is divided into plots of 460 acres each, which are again subdivided into plots of eighty acres. Roads are surveyed and laid off, so that each of the eighty acres will have a frontage on a road, giving to the owner easy ac-cess and egress. The soil of these lands is unsurpassed for fertility and produc-tiveness, and they have the advantage of a railroad running through them, while the broad navigable river Neuse is easy of access. We learn, that Mr. McLean proposes at an early day to visit Holland to induce immigrants to come over to this State and county, and east their lots with us. Mr. McLean can truthfully offer such inducements, as will result in causing many to leave their over crowded lands, and settle here among us; at least such will be the case, unless an evil eyed fate has marked this country for its own to frown upon and to curse.

A Horse Thief and an Officer. Newbern Nut Shell.

On Monday last Thomas Stanly, Esq., issued a warrant for the arrest of Turner Armstrong, who was charged with stealing a horse. The warrant was placed in the hands of Deputy Sheriff Blount for execution, an that officer went at once in search of his man, whom he was informed could be found in James City. Armstrong was probably "posted" in reference to the efforts about being made for his capture, and on the approach of the officer, the guilty man immediately took to his heels, the officer in pursuit. Arriving at Scott's Creek Armstrong got into a small boat, intending to get out his pursuer's reach. He failed, however, for the officer was so close on his heels that he did not have time to ply an oar and at once jumped overboard. At the same time that Armstrong came to the surface and grabbed the stern of the boat the officer laid his on the bow. Then came the "tug of war." The horse thief attempted to pull the boat out into deeper water, that he might jump in and make off, and the officer done his "level best" to pull it up on shore, that he might either cap-ture his man at the stern, or, in case he let go his hold and attempted to swim out of danger, that he might run him down with the boat, and capture him with his oar. The fierce struggle had been going on but a short time when the strain at each end of the boat caused the head cap to give way, when the thief easily pulled the craft out into deep water leaving the head cap in the hands of the officer, and jumping in was soon on the other side of the creek where he halloed across warning the officer not to make any further attempt to arrest him on the peril of his life. The thief then took to his heels and had soon made good his

Save the King Snakes.

Southern Home CABARRUS COUNTY, June 11 .- As my sons were going to plow, they heard a noise near the roadside, and on looking they saw a large king snake coiled around a heavy copperhead snake, with the head of the venomous reptile in its mouth. One of the boys got a forked stick and carried the serpents to the house, about three hundred yards distant, but the king snake did not unloose the hold upon the head of its victim. The two were placed near the window where I was sitting and I watched them fully an hour. They eldom moved; this was about sun down. Awaiting to see how they would make it, and fearing the copperhead would get away, I had a fork run through his body and fastened it in the the ground. Now it looked as if the king snake had sucked everything out of the copperhead's body.

After dark, by the light of a lamp, we saw that the king snake had uncoiled and was fast swallowing him. At the expiration of a half an hour, out the fork and he started off with his prey. We put in the fork again, and turned a box over them until morning. There then appeared but one snake-the king snake, and when released, he glided away.

Sport Extraordinary. Newbernian. Since the enterprise exhibited by the Newbern Elm City Athletic Club, a very decided interest has been manifested by our people in manly sports, and the extensive programme arranged for the 4th of July is a striking proof of this. Novelty, however, is very desirable in out-door sports as in everything else, and we therefore suggest the organization of a rifle club for the extermination of the hordes of alligators that infest Hog Island, and the banks of the Neuse in that vicinity. That this singular game abounds in sufficient quantity to justify action upon our suggestion, is abundantly testified to by persons living in that vicinity, who frequently encounter them, and whose slumbers at night are disturbed by their cow-like bellowings. Hog Island is but five miles up the river, less than an hour's sail, and sport of endeavoring to pierce the scaly armor of these monster reptiles will be wholesome and unique.

A Trial by Proxy. Bakersville Republican.

In the way of politeness our town marshal is ahead of them all. Last week a couple of the gentler sex, they were certainly not the weaker, had a conflict, and in so doing violated one of the town ordinances, for which of-fense, the mayor issued a warrant and the marshal started out to arrest the offenders. The husband of one proposed to take the place of his bigger and better half, and the officer the law was too gallant to refuse the offer, so he brought the head of the house before his Honor, who imposed the usual fine. The marshal will be come the most popular man in town.

THE BONAPARTES.

GENEALOGY OF THE HOUSE OF

Surviving Members of the Family... Prince Victor Napoleon the heir to the Imperial Title.

The death of the titular Prince Imperial of France and the attention naturally directed to the Prince who now becomes the head of the Napoleonic succession, will give interest to a summary review of the Bonaparte genealogy. The Philadelphia Times furnishes the following transcript of the family tree, by which it will be seen that Napoleon Bonaparte had four brothers and three sisters, named as below in the order of their birth: 1. Joseph, born 1768, died 1844. He was made King of Naples and afterwards King of Spain, and on the fall of the empire came to the United States, under the name of Count de Survilliers, and lived for a long time at Borden town. He married Mlle. Clary, by whom he had two daughters, Zepaide, married to her cousin, the Prince of Canino, and who died in 1854, and Charlotte, married to Napoleon Louis, the brother of the late emperor. She died in 1839. 2. Lucien, Prince of Canino, born in 1775, died 1840. He opposed the Emperor's plans of conquest, refused a a crown and devoted himself to literary and archaeological pursuits, for which reason the Emperor excluded him from the succession, though he was devoted to Napoleon after his fall and to the claims of Napoleon II. His first wife was Christine Boyer, an inn-keeper's daughter, who bore him two children, Charlotte, who was married to Prince Mario Gabrielli and afterward to Dr. Centamori, and died in 1865, and Christine, who was the wife successively of the Swedish Count Posse and of Lord Dudley Coutts Stuart, and died in 1847. By his second wife, Marie de Bleschamp, Lucien had four daughters and four sons. Jeanne was married to Count Honorati; Marie to Count Valentini; Constance became Abbess of the Convent of the Sacred Heart at Rome, and Lætitia was married to Sir

Thomas Wyse. The sons were:

a. Charles Lucien, Prince of Canino, born 1803, died 1857. He married his cousin Zenaide, daughter of Joseph, and joined his father-in-law in America, where he gained a great reputation as a naturalist. It was he who com-pleted Wilson's ornithology. In later life he was director of the Jardin des Plantes, at Paris. He had three sons, Joseph Lucien, who was born in Phila-delphia in 1824 and died in Rome in 1865; Lucien Louis, born in Rome in 1828, ordained a priest in 1853 and made a Cardinal by Pius IX. in 1868, and Napoleon Gregoire, born in 1839. The five daughters of Charles Lucien became the wives of the Marquis Roccagiovine, Count Primoli, Count Campelo and Prince Placido Gabrielli.

b. Louis Lucien, born in England in 1813. He has devoted himself to philstudies in English and French dialects. c. Pierre Napoleon, born in Rome in 1815, a wild lad, who wandered all over the world and was in quarrels every-where. He served with Santander in South America: fought with policeman in Italy: was tried for murder in Paris; twice fled for refuge to the United States, and finally settled down in London, where his wife opened a millinery shop under her princely title.

d. Antoine, born in 1816. Spent his early life in Italy. Was a member of the Assembly from 1849 to 1851, when he retired from politics. He was one of cousin, the Emperor. 3. Marie Anna Elisa, born 1777, died 1820. Married to Bacceochi, a Corsican officer, in 1797. Removed to Paris and was made Princess of Piombina and Lucca and Grand Duchess of Tuscany. Their daughter, Napoleone Elisa, born 1806, married Count Camerata and was a prominent person for many years. She died in 1869, leaving her fortune to the late Prince Imperial. They had also two sons, the eldest of whom, Count Felice Bacchioch, transmitted his title and estates to his son of the same name, who was the friend and Chamberlain of Napoleon III., and died in 1866. 4. Louis, born 1778, died 1846. Married Hortense Beauharnais, Josephine's daughter. Made King of Holland in 1806. Though he was continually quarrelling with the Emperor, the latter in his will, gave precedence to his child-ren over those of Joseph and Lucien in the right of succession. There were two sons: Napoleon Louis, born 1804, died a. Napoleon Louis, born 1801. und 1831. His father abdicated in his favor in 1810, and after the overthrow of the Emperor the father and son lived together in Florence until the latter's death. b. Louis, Napoleon, born 1808, died 1873. It is well known that the paternity of the late Emperor was quesedged it, the matter need not be discussed here. Napoleon married Eu-genia Marie de Montijo in 1853, and had by her one child, Napoleon Eugene Louis Jean Joseph, who has just been killed in South Africa.

5. Marie Pauline, born 1780, died 1826. Married first to General Leclerc, and afterwards to Prince Camillo Borghese. Created by the Emperor Duchess of Guastalla. · Caroline, born 1782, died 1839. Mar-ried in 1800 to Murat, afterward King of Naples, to whom she bore two sons and two daughters. Leetitia Josephine became Countess Popoli, and Louise, Countess Rasponi. The sons were: a. Napoleon Achille, born 1821, died 1847. Settled in Florida; married a grandniece of Washington, and died on his estate near Tallahassee,

b. Napoleon Lucien, born 1808. Came Braser. Returned to France in 1848: became Senator; received the title of Prince of the Imperial Family in 1853, and was with Bazaine at the capitulation of Metz, His oldest son, Joseph Joachim Napoleon, is a colonel in the French army.

7. Jerome, born 1784, died 1860. Visited the United States in 1803, where he married Elizabeth Patterson, of Baltimore, lately deceased. By her he had one child.

a. Jerome Napoleon, born in England, 1805, died in Baltimore, 1870. Graduated at Harvard, and married Miss Williams, of Roxbury, Mass. His oldest son, Jerome Napoleon, born in 1832, graduated at West Point in 1852; served as colonel in the French army in the Crimea and Italy; married a Boston lady and is now living in New York. He has two children. The second son, Charles Jerome, born 1851, is a lawyer in Baltimore.

Jerome separated from his wife and became an admiral in the French service, and subsequently a general, and in 1806 the Senate made him the successor to the throne in the event of Naposor to the throne in the event of Napo-lean's leaving no male issue. In the following year he was made king of Westphalia, and his marriage with Miss Patterson being annulled, he married the Princess Catherine, daugh-ter of the King of Wantembers by ter of the King of Wurtemburg, by whom he had two sons and a daughter: b. Jerome Napoleon, born 1814, died

1847. He was an officer in the army of Wurtemburg. c. Mathilde Letitia Wilhelmine,

c. Mathide Lettia Wilhelmine, born 1820. Married, 1841, to Prince Anatole Demidoff, of San Donato, who died in 1870, when his widow was re-married to the painter Paupelin. NAPOLEON.

d. Napoleon Joseph Charles Paul, commonly known as Prince Napoleon, commonly known as Prince Napoleon, born in 1822, a talented man whose erratic life cannot be compressed into a paragraph. He married in 1859 the Princess Clotilde, daughter of King Victor Emmanuel, by whom he has two sons and a daughter. Napoleon Victor, born 1862; Napoleon Louis, born 1864, and Marie, born 1866.

It will be seen from the above list that the direct male line not only of Napoleon Bonaparte, but his brothers Joseph and Louis is now extinct, the surviving Bonapartes being the descendants of Jerome. Of the former branch of the family, Prince Louis Lucien, the philologist, and his nephew, Cardi-nal Bonaparte, are the chief representatives, but the Napoleonic decree having excluded this scholarly line from the succession, Prince Napoleon, as the son of the younger brother, Jerome, comes to the front as the official head of the family of Bonaparte. Had the marriage with Miss Patterson been acknowledged by the political law of France, as it was by the laws of God and man elsewhere, this apparently empty honor would fall upon Colonel Bonaparte, of Baltimore.

Prince Napoleon, who has become the head of the line, is a democrat in his politics, and is distasteful to the entire Bonaparte party. Removing this from the order of party choice to the order of Imperial law we find it plainly laid down in the senatus consultum of 1870, which fixed the succession, that in default of a male heir or the adoption of an heir by Napoleon III. from the heirs male and legitimate of the brothers of Napoleon I., the succession is provided as follows:

In default of a legitimate or adopted heir, are called to the throne Prince Napoleon Bonaparte and his direct heirs, natural and legitimate, from male to male by order of primogeniture, and to the perpetual exclusion of women and their descendants. It is on this that Prince Napoleon can at will take his stand.

To cultivate a pride in our country is a duty which we all owe to the rising generation. In no better way can it be done than to obliterate from memory the scenes associated with this emblem for the past eighteen vears, and I have no doubt but that the patriotic citizens of Rome are now ready again to take to their hearts the old flag and to teach their children to reverence it, ever as they were taught in their early childhood. The "Lynching" in Spartanburg. Charleston News and Courier.

We have no liking for lynch law, under any circumstances. There is always danger that punishment will be inflicted without such proof as would convict the accused in court, and that a procedure which, in grave emergencies, is almost a necessity may be perverted into a means of gratifying passion or satisfying vengeance. Such objections have unusual weight where, as in South Carolina, the operation of the courts is unimpeded, and every criminal, high or low, is sure to be brought to justice quickly. Nevertheless, we see good reasons for the summary hanging in Spartanburg on Tuesday. It is a deed that we cannot condemn, whatever its abstract impropriety and manifest unlawfulness.

There was no doubt of the guilt the suspected person. His character was bad, and a chain of circumstantial evidence was woven around him. It cannot be questioned that he would have been convicted of outrage and murder by any fair and impartial jury Why then was it requisite that the peo-ple themselves should take the law into their own hands? A ruffian who was capable of the double crime for which Moore was hanged is not likely to be deterred by the prospect of a remote penalty. The only consideration likey to move him is the certainty that the punishment is to be mortal and immediate. Moreover, the crime is against society itself, and, in a State where there is a large population of ignorant and passionate persons, it cannot with safety be treated like an ordinary offence against person or property. We answer for it that, when it is found that outrages like that for which Moore died are punished instantly by the people, without reference to either judge or jury, we shall hear no more of atrocities that make the blood run cold, and de, if anything can, change quiet and law-abiding citizens into resolute and merciless avengers of a woman's shame and Llood. There was no concealment in Spar tanburg. To their honor the people went about their fearful work with quiet dignity, their faces exposed to the bright light of day. They were not ashamed of their purpose, and have no reason to blush for their act.

The tramp's last dodge is to ask your advice about going to the next town, and when you warmly advise him to go, he says he has much confidence in your good judgment, and will emigrate further on at once. "But he adds, would you advise me to borrow ten cents before I start?

CHAPEL HILL, June 21 .- The Normal School is now an established fact. True there are not so many in attendance, as we hoped to have at the beginning of the sessio 1, but I learn there are 150 teachers enrolled, besides other distinguished teachers of the State who are visiting and attending the exercises with much interest. This does not include the mothers and fathers who are near enough to come occasionally. Of course we expect a great many

There is a course in Latin, in Chemistry, in Drawing and Penmanship, English Analysis and higher Grammar, in Kindergarten. To attend this course one lady comes from New York, another from Pennsylvania. Then we have teachers from the far South—from Mississippi. Such is the estimation in which the school is held abroad. All honor to the "reform Legislature," which, with all its notions of "retrenchment," was wise enough to see that North Carolina could not afford to do without her Normal School —that the children of the State must not be allowed to starve for the want of mental food! This was economy indeed —a very wise economy.

But is the Normal School doing any good? Let us see; one hundred and fifty teachers waked up, well instructed for six weeks in the best methods, new to the most of them—one hundred and fifty teachers scattered all over the State, going home with new ideas, stimulated to make new efforts, carrying with them a new and higher appreciation of the dignity and importance of their, I might say holy calling. Car-rying these live ideas into the swamps, the highlands, the mountain fastnesses

LOCKED UP WITH IGNORANCE more than by their natural barriers—this is the work of this ses-sion of the Normal school. Each one of these teachers is benefited to a certain degree, how much I cannot say. Multiply this one hundred and fifty by the number of parents and teachers (are not parents teachers, too? They ought not parents teachers, too: They ought to be, they are, whether they will or not). Multiply, this one hundred and fifty by the number of teachers with whom they come in contact and to whom they give new and higher ideas. So the work of the Normal School will roll over the State, a mighty tidal wave of education, carrying its enlightening and purifying and elevating influences on its ebb, as well as its flow, forever. Who can compute the results? Who foresee the end of one day's work. It is measured only by infinity; it is bounded only by the far gathering together of the teachers is the enthusiasm which is infused into all of them. What is it, that produces such a feeling? Is it the invigorating, health ful air? or the beautiful grounds, with their magnificent oaks and the splendid carpet of green grass? or the water of the campus well, from whose depths he who drinks thirsts till he drinks again? or is it yet the inspiring example and the inspiriting and encouraging words of the President of the University, the Superintendent of the Normal School and the noble corps of teachers who are putting their shoulders to the wheel, with untiring energy? Perhaps all of these conspire to produce the effect. There is enough glory for all to take a share. There is enough to make one proud that he is a North Carolinian. How the Kansas Exodus Begun. R. Guernsey to Boston Herald. How did this fever start? The answer seems ready to hand: A year or two ago there came to Vicksburg a mulatto, some forty years of age, named Thomas W. Raymore. He opened an intelligence office, and made it his principal business to induce Alabama negroes to come to Mississippi. Some eight months ago, it is said that a raileight months ago, it is said that a rail-road company, whose line runs from St. Louis into Kansas, (not the Missou-ri Pacific) furnished Raymore with maps and gaudily colored circulars, giving eloquent descriptions of Kansas. These circulars were headed with the state of the said words: "Show this to no White Man." The negroes, who are Free Masons in their way, kept the circulars dark. The colored preachers got excited, and be-gan to preach "Going to Kanzy." From this slight flame came the conflagration. One of the circulars merits description. It gives a gaudy picture of the "Colered Man's Home in Kansas." The colored pater familias is seated in the rocking-chair on the verandah of his exquisite stone cottage, reading the Tribune. The sun, huge and golden, is indolently pillowing itself on a rosy cloud in the western horizon. Through the lace curtains of the parlor windows may be seen the colored mater-familias languidly reclining on a sofa, listening to the music elicited from the piano by a dusky maiden whose slender fingers sweep the key-board. To one side of the cot-tage is a grove in which may be seen some fine deer. Turkeys fly by at easy range. The corn is growing high and luxuriant. It is the dream of an idealist, but to Southern Sambo it was "de truf fer sho." The exodus idea is not dead. All through the South, and especially in the Mississippi Valley, the colored people are quietly discussing a future and mightier exodus. The return of homesick and disgusted emigrants has an effect in their immediate neighborhood; but let a boat be sent down to the river to take away negroes.

down to the river to take away negroes and the excitement would be renewed ten-fold. There is little reason in this exodus movement. The practical side is not looked at by the average negro is not looked at by the average negro. He is ready for a "skursion" at any time and to any place. If the genuine fright the employers of black labor have experienced leads to the formation of a public sentiment which will intimidate extortioners, lead to a fair adjustment of rents, and improve the political condition of the negro, much good will follow a temporary evil.

Budding Roses. This is a simple process by which amateur cultivators often increase their stock. A sharp penknife can do duty for a budding-knife, and the handle o a toothbrush, if ground down smooth will aid in lifting the bark. From the last of June to the last of August is the best time for this process, as the bark can be more easily raised from the wood. Take a smooth stalk and make horizontal cut across the bark through to the wood, but not into it. From the center of this cross-cut make another cut straight down the stem an inch of more in length. These two cuts should resemble a T. Slice off the bud you de sire to propagate with one cut of the penknife, cutting it close to the main stalk. Now, with the edge of the spud turn back the bark on each side of straight cut, and insert the bud on the wood of the branch to be budded, fit ting it tightly to the crossed cut; with a bit of soft yarn bind down the bark, leaving a point of the bud exposed. A handful of dampened moss must then be bound round the stem, taking care to leave the tiny point of the bud ex-posed to the air. In six weeks the wrappings can be removed, but al other shoots must be kept from growing on the budded branch. By this means a rose bush can be made to bear half a dozen different colored roses.

"Sampling" Cotton.

Stealing cotton under the name o "sampling" has grown into a regular business in New York. It has been reduced to such a state of protection that the Cotton Exchange has been forced to make organized resistance hereto. A few days ago indictment for larceny and receiving stolen goods were found against two cotton brokers and a large number of licensed samplers and cartmen. It appears that, in stead of limiting themselves to the small quantitity of cotton needed to exhibit the quality, these licensed sam plers take enough to make it an object and sell it. The cartmen follow the samplers, and take a grab at the bales intrusted to them on their own account The cotton dealers estimate their loss es through the system of pilfering a $75,000 a year. The District Attorne has entered vigorously into the busi-ness of prosecuting the thieves and the brokers who purchase from them, and it is thought some of the offenders will be sent to the penitentiary.

BASTILE FOR TILDEN.

THE BOSS LIAR MAKES ANOTHER

How General Stewart L. Woodford Planned to Prevent the Inauguration of Samuel J. Tilden.

A Mr. John F. Mines, who may be emembered as the reporter to the New York World of a conversation some time ago with Senator Conkling, the most of which was repudiated by that gentleman, has turned up again in the same paper in another startling role. Obviously the laurels of the obelisk reporter will not let him sleep, and so he comes to the front with a prodigious story of how General Stewart L. Woodford planned to nip in the bud A TREMENDOUS CONSPIRACY which never had any existence. Tilden, as the tale runs, was to be inaugurated on March, 1877 in spite of the electoral tribunal on the steps of the City Hall in New York. His partisans where thereupon to seize the custom-house and would be able of course to run the government. This felonious to run the government. This felonious intention was anticipated and frustrated by the appointment of General Woodford as United States attorney for the southern district of New York. That worthy officer says that he thought the danger real and took his precautions accordingly. His orders and his intention was to arrest secretly the President-elect for high treason, convey him privately on board a federal gunboat and ship him to Fort Adams or some other serene point where ams or some other serene point where he would undergo trial. "The first thing that anybody knew of it," said General Woodford, "he would have disappeared, and the suddenness of the blow would have either dishearted his LESSON OF RESPECT FOR THE LAW. "I believe that we were in more danger of bloodshed then than in the month that preceded the fall of Sumter. I am sure that if there had been another dotard like James Buchanan in the President's chair, rebellion would have been inevitable. All this has very much the appearance of a cock-and-bull story, which Mr. Mines is quite capable to invent, but at the same time, it is well known that President Grant would have acted in the way set forth if he had been persuaded and have a called coverners. such a so-called conspiracy existed.

SOME OPINIONS ON THE SUBJECT. New Haven Journal (Rep.) John F. Mines writes to the New York World an interesting account of a conversation with General Stewart L. Woodford, during which Mines says General Woodford explained his acceptance of the appointment of United States District Attorney at the close of Grant's Administration. The danger of an uprising was felt to be so real tha or an uprising was left to be so real that troe ps were quietly brought from the West and South and massed at Washington, Fort McHenry and in New York Harbor. Many will sneer now, as they did then, at the need for taking such precautions, but they were certainly wise ones. This scrap of history adds to the evidence that the records

While Mr. Seward was a member of the New York bar in active practice, in the New York bar in active practice, in 1848, the postmaster of Syracuse refused to deliver a news paper to a Miss Felton, to whom it was addressed, without the payment of letter postage, the sender having placed upon it the initial letter of his name. Miss Felton thereupon sued the postmaster in trover for the value of the paper, and the case was tried before a Justice of the Peace, who held the postal instructions illegal, and held the postal instructions illegal, and held the postal instructions illegal, and consequently gave six cents damages and costs $2.88 for plaintiff. The case was carried by the postmaster to the Court of Common Pleas, which affirmed the judgment, with additional costs of $22.85. From there it was carried to the Supreme Court of the State, which added $37.65 to the judgment before rendered, and the pestmaster then appealed the case to the Court of Appeals, where the judgment was affirmed with the additional sum of $75.64, making $136.19 in all. Not satisfied with this measure of justice in the State courts. neasure of justice in the State courts, the postmaster went with the case to the Supreme Court of the United the Supreme Court of the United States, where it was elaborately argued by Mr. Seward and decided by a very labored opinion of the court, affirming the findings of the other courts and rendering judgment accordingly, but with what costs the record does not show. The case, as decided by the Court of Appeals of New York, is reported in 1 Comstock, 537, and as decided by the Supreme Court of the United States in Supreme Court of the United States in 12th Howard, 284, in which volume it occupies nine pages.

Indignation Against the Hanged Man The indignation against J. J. Moore, the man recently lynched in Spartanburg county, S. C., was very great in the neighborhood where he lived. A citizen of that community writes that all the churches in that neighborhood refused to allow him to be buried in their grave yards. His remains were accordingly deposited in a field near his house. The writer, who participated in the lynching, says he has nothing to regret, but much prefers the position he occupies to that of the man who allows such a crime to go unpunished for one day longer than could be helped.

It may be mentioned in this connec It may be mentioned in this connection that Governor Simpson has issued a proclamation calling upon the law officers and all good citizens of Spartanburg county to take all steps within their legal capacity as officers and citizens to bring the lynchers of Moore, the ravisher and murderer, to punishment, and thereby vindicate the majesty of the violated law,

INCREASE OF POPULATION. If men had labored as patiently in the pursuit of truth as they have done in the effort to bolster up their preconceived opinions, it is difficult to set limits to the process which the world would have made in knowledge up to this year of our Lord 1879. There are cases in which error and falsehood, stoutly maintained, will answer the purposes of truth, for a time; but there are others, in which the fabrication of facts is as idle and as foolish as the expedient of the ostrich (or the American goose) for hiding itself, sticking its head into a bush. Of this nature is the attempt of the Washington Republican to reduce representation of the South in Congress by guessing at the probable results of the census of 1880. The Republican assumes, without so much as an attempt at argument, that the ratio of increase of population in the several States will be the same during the current decade as it was during that which terminated in 1870. The editor or writer thus entirely ignores the effect of the war upon the South, which was not only the battle field of the struggle between the sections, but which had to contend against five fold odds, with no assistance from abroad, no recruits of population from abroad, and which suffered a constant drain of population by the escape of slaves, and the desertion or emigration of white men. On this absurd assumption the Republican states that South Carolina will increase at the rate of 0.27, or little more than one-fourth of one per cent.; that Virginia will increase at the rate of 4.44, West Virginia at the same, Alabama 3.40, Mississippi at 4.63, and North Carolina at the rate of 7.93 per cent. Now the facts are that during the past nine years very few emigrants have left these States, while some thousands have come into them; meantime the ratio of natural increase has gone on as usual, which the history of this country shows to have been quite twenty per cent. It is obvious that these undeniable facts will upset the calculations of the Republican, according to which there will be a considerable gain of population in the Northern States, and a relative loss in the Southern.

But the writer seems not to be satisfied with the results of his assumptions, and in order to strengthen the case, and to weaken still further the Southern representation in Congress, he takes Maryland and Delaware from the category of Southern States, and puts them on the Northern side. In this way the other fourteen Southern States are allowed eighty-seven representatives or twenty-nine per cent. of the whole Congress. But the case is not so bad as this, according to his own assumptions; for the writer makes a mistake in the addition of the figures, by which he deprives the South of five representatives. The number should be ninety-two from the fourteen States, instead of eighty-

There is good reason to expect that the increase of population in the two Virginias, North Carolina, Kentucky and Tennessee will be nearly or quite twenty per cent., that in Mississippi, Arkansas, Florida and Texas, it will be aearer a hundred than fifty; and that in South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana the increase will be ten to twenty per cent. In the aggregate, the South will have increased as rapidly, if not more so, than the North. 'the colored "exodus" may hurt Mississippi and Louisiana to some extent, but the other States will not

WE dislike to find fault with any one, and more especially with our esteemed temporary, the Raleigh News. But it strikes us that it could, with the greatest propriety, have omitted the revolting details of the infanticide trial of Mrs. Louisa Pierce, which appeared in Sunday's issue. If the reading public of our dear old State have grown so deprayed in their thirst for sensations as to demand such demoralizing and sickening disclosures, then indeed is the future of our strong young boys and virtuous, modest girls unpropitious. A newspaper is a public educa-tor, and to properly fulfill its high mis-sion should convert, not pander to, a low and vicious taste.—Greenville Ex-

The Express is hereby informed that the evidence in the Pierce case was published as much in justice to the woman charged with the crime as a simple matter of news. Tales were in circulation connecting her name with things probable and improbable; she had been traduced without cause; and it was deemed best for her and for the people of this locality that the evidence should be published as completely showing in itself that there was not the slightest ground on which to base such a terrible charge. And we venture to say that our "modest, virtuous girls" will not be hurst in the slightest manner by its publication. There was no effort at sensationalism. It was a plain, bare statement of the case, fully exonerating Mrs. Pierce. And, by the way, why does the Express publish in its local columns, a reading notice of "a story" published in a sensational paper of the lowest grade, detailing "the trials and tempations of a poor girl," if it is such a stickler for chaste reading?

"We hold two things: First, that "we will not, if we can help it, let vital "and righteous laws be repealed or "modified as a condition of getting an "appropriation to support the government. We have resisted and will re"sist to the end, all such measures.

In an editorial comment on advertising schemes, the Reading (Penn.) Times says: "There are men who would rather spend $10 or $20 in the rail-card and board nuisances, which may be seen by a few hundred people, than to expend the same sum in their home papers, where tens of thousands would see their cards every day. This is an age of newspaper reading, and the sooner business men come to realize this fact in all its importance, the better it will be for business generally, and the better it will be for themselves."

SEVERAL of our State exchanges mention instances of losses in their several localities by speculation in cotton futures. They are not alone: in New York, Boston and Liverpool speculation in cotton has brought several operators to grief, and the fluctuations have been unusually wide and frequent. The whole practice of dealing in contracts for future delivery upon margins has become a nuisance, which the legitimate dealers would do wisely to check before it causes lasting mis-

THE Springfield Republican is of the opinion that Mr. Knott's answer to the Fraud, on behalf of the Judiciary committee, is "too heavy and elaborate, too partisan and too petulant." That is powerful criticism, surely. Still, if it were all these, it is one thing moreunanswerable.

POLITICAL NOTES.

The Tobacco Crop.

Richmond Tobacco Journal. Upon the whole, the information we have from all the tobacco growing sections indicates that we shall have an average crop of tobacco this year as to quantity, and more than an average one as to quality, if the seasons prove propitious. The unanimous admonition from all authoritative sources that it is better to raise superior tobacco, even in small quantity, than to produce unlimited crops of inferior grade, has had good effect—backed as it has been by the dear experience which planters have had for a series of years.

Another thing. The disordered system on our plantations, which was the chief cause of the production of low grades of leaf in the years immediately ecceding the war, is being superseded by a new order that already is bear ing good fruit. The planter and his laborers are adjusting themselves fairly toward each other. Chaos is being subdued to proper oversight and regula-tion. With a full and complete adaptation to the new conditions, our Virginia plantations promise to regain their standing as the principal producers of the best tobacco in the world.

What President Sherman Would Be.

Letter from Ex-Governor Gratz Brown. The election of Secretary Sherman to the Presidency would instal an office-ism prepared to crystalize into a permanent policy for our people those now dominant ideas of national banks, financial contraction, protective duties, ocean subsidies and railroad rings which have so plundered the great agricultural sections at the bidding of organized capital as to make the States mere provinces tributary to the power throned in Wall street. Of that system Secretary Sherman is the incarnation, and his triumph, or that of Mr. Foster, who is accredited as his representative in Ohio, would in my opinion, pave the way to a supremacy fatal to any general for long years to come.

This important organ weighs but about three pounds, and all the blood in a living person about three gallons) passes through it at least once every half hour, to have the bile and other impurities strained or filtered from it. Bile is the natural purgative of the bowels, and if the Liver becomes torpid it is not separated from the blood, but carried through the voins to all parts of the system, and in trying to escape through the pores of the skin, causes it to turn yellow or a dirty brown color. The stomach becomes diseaved, and Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constitution. Headache, Biliousness. ach becomes discared, and Dyspepsia, Indi-gestion, Constipation, Headache, Biliousness, Jaundice, Chills, Malarial Fevers, Piles, Sick and Sour Stomach, and general debility follow. Merrett.'s Herratine, the great vegetable dis-covery for torpidity, causes the Liver to throw off from one to wo ounces of bile early time the blood passes through it, as long as there is an excess of bile; and the effect of even a few deeps upon vellow complexing or a brown ditty. an excess of bile; and the effect of even a few doese upon yellow complexion or a brown dirty looking skin, will astonish all who try it—they being the first symptoms to disappear. The cure of all bilious diseases and Liver complaint is made certain by taking Hepatink in accord-ance with directions. Headache is generally cured in twenty minutes, and no disease that arises from the Liver can exist if a fair trial is given.

The Charlotte Southern Home makes the annexed complaint: "The public laws of North Carolina have been issued Those we have seen are badly bound and have to be handled with care to keep them from falling to pieces. The backs are bound with cloth, instead of

Was it Infanticide?

On vesterday afternoon about four o'clock Coroner Richardson received information that the body of a dead infant had been found in a vacant lot in the rear of the residence of Jordan Womble, Esq., who lives on East Hargett street. The Coroner at once proceeded to the place and had the body removed to a house near by and at once summoned a jury of inquest. After a view of the body, it was determined to adjourn until nine o'clock when a post mortem examination will be made by the Superintendent of Health, Dr. James McKee, and witnesses examined.

Bond Burning.

The Treasurer called a meeting of the Board of State Officers yesterday and an examination of the registration of the old bonds was entered into as provided law. It was ascertained that 8600, 000 worth had been received up to date. not including a batch of $100,000 that came in yesterday. The books were found correct, not a single error had been committed. After the committee signified its approval of the work, the committee resolved itsef a band of bond burners and at once proceeded to and did actually burn up $600,000 worth of North Carolina bonds and it is not exaggerating to say that the much bonored Treasurer beat the party two to one, all having a fair start.

Between the old-fashioned inn of one hundred years ago-full of homely modern hetel there is a world of differ ence. Of the latter, no better example can be found than in that noble New York establishment, the "St. Nicholas," which successfully aims to couple the elegancies of the palace with the snug enjoyments of the home. Nowhere can the business visitor or the ourist find more admirable accom dations. It is specially recommended to business men on account of location and reasonable charges.

Wine for Evening Entertainments The Port Grape Wine of Alfred Speer, of Passaic, New Jersey, is generally pronounced the most reliable wine to be obtained, and is now being used by those fashionables and families who are the most choice in the selection of wines for evening entertainments. Right Time to Operate in Stock. By recent communication with prom-ment stock operators, we learn that now is a favorable time to take advantage of the stock market, by the new combination method of Messrs. Lawrence & Co., the New York bankers, who have been so remarkably successful heretofore. This system is founded on correct rules of finance and is universally approved by the shrewdest operators. The orders of thousands of customers are massed into one immense capital, and operated as a great whole, dividing profits pro rate every month. In this way any customer can invest from $10 to $10,000 with equal proportionate success, and at the same time gain all the advantages of largest capital and best skill in manipulating the market. This firm's new circular has "two unerring rules for success" and full explanations. $50 will make $250, or 5 per cent.; $500 will return $3, 000, and so on, according to the market, Stocks and bonds wanted. Deposits received. Apply to Lawrence & Co. Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New Yok, Prejudice Kills.

"Eleven years our daughter suffered on a bed of misery under the care of several of the best (and some of the worst) physicians, who gave her disease various names but no relief, and now she is restored to us in good health by as simple a remedy as Hop Bitters, that we had poohed at for two years, be-fore using it. We earnestly hope and pray that no one else will let their sick suffer as we did, on account of prejudice against so good a medicine as Hop Bitters."—The Parents.

Debt, poverty and suffering haunted me for years, caused by a sick family and large bills for doctoring, which did no good. I was completely discouraged, until one year ago, by the advice of my pastor. I procured Hop Bitters and com-menced their use, and in one month we were all well, and none of us have been sick a day since; and I want to say to all poor men, you can keep your fami-lies well a year with Hop Bitters for less than one doctor's visit will cost,-A Workingman.

Would an Irredeemable Currency be as good as gold? While there is a very large class of intelligent citizens who believe it would, we regard it our duty to all alike to say that as a cure for old sores, cuts, bruises, jams and slashes, there is nothing like Carbolic Salve. Beware of BOVINE, MISSISSIPPI, April 22, 1879. The following correspondence will explain itself: A. WADDILL, Esq., LYNCHBURG, VA.—Dear Sir: Observing a certificate from you in reference to the "Iron and Alum Mass," of the Seven Springs, in Washington county, Va., in relation to its efficacy for Liver Diseases, would you have the kindness to inform me whether you used the "Mass" or the "Water;" also, a description of the symptoms and such other information as you may deem pertinent. I am a long-time sufferer vith Liver Complaint, and naturally feel very anxious on the subject of remedy that will afford me even tem-porary relief. Your early reply will greatly oblige, very respectfully, WILLIAM BARR.

LYNCHBURG, Va., May 12, 1879.-WM. BARR, Esq., Bovine, Mississippi-Dear Sir: Your inquiry in regard to the "Liver case" which was effectually cured in my family from using the "Seven Springs Mass," is before me, The case referred to in my certificate was that of my wife's sister, who is now in her 80th year, and has been a member of my family for the last 27 years. She had been afflicted with Liver Disease for 30 years, sometimes almost dying with pains in the back, breast, and heaviness of the chest, heart-burns (intensely), sick stomach, vomiting, &c. I procured a few bottles of the "Mass" for her, and very soon after she began the use of it, her health commenced to get better, and she con-tinued steadily to improve, and at this writing, so old, seemingly in as good health as a person who had never been afflicted with these diseases. She attributes her cure entirely to the efficacy of the "Seven Springs Mass." I regard it one of the greatest family medicines we have access to, not only for such diseases as above indicated, but for various other complaints for which it is recommended. Hoping these answers satisfactory, I am, very truly, A. WAD-DILL, Proprietor Lynchburg News. For sale by Wm. Simpson, Pescud, Lee & Co., and F. H. Heartt, Raleigh, N. C., and Druggists generally.

The following gentlemen will accept our thanks for the privilege of publishing these references:

President S. Simpson graduated from Trinity College in 1873. He is a thorough scholar, elegant in general culture, and a good teacher.

B. CRAVEN,
Pres. Trinity College. Rev. S. Simpson, A. M., was a student of Trinity College at the time I held the chair of Natural Sciences in the Institution. He made good advancements in the subjects in the Department I directed. His bearing was always dignified and courteous; and his reputation of the first character.

WILL C DOUB. Pres Louisburg Female College, Louisburg, N

I consider the Rev S Simpson, President of Yadkin College a gentleman of fine attainments, a good disciplinarian and an energetic and accurate instructor. I warmly recommend him to the public considerate and accurate instructor.
